ACADEMIA-INDUSTRY INTERFACE & FOREIGN COLLABORATION

Academic is an innovative and creative world whereas the industry has the task of commercializing ideas. Earlier Universities and Industry were operating in separate domains, however they started working closely in the recent times in order to create synergies. Higher education institutions not only contribute skilled human resources to business, but also in various intangible ways. Traditionally, business schools were looking for placements and internships for their students and the industry for fresh recruits who are job ready, well trained and equipped with the right KSA (knowledge, skills and attitude) to be able to contribute to organization's growth and development. Progress of any organization is not possible without the right man at the right place. Hence for mutual benefit, Academia and Industry are working more closely and strongly as they are dependent on one another.

Following are the avenues adopted to make the relationship of Academia and Industry stronger:

- Guest lectures and Seminars by Industry personnel
- Industry expert's guidance is considered while designing the content and curriculum.
- Academia generating ideas and acting as incubators to new business.
- Funding academic and applied research.
- Frequent Industry visits.
